VINCENNES UNIVERSITY GROWS

Progress is a vague term. It is difficult to define in a fast paced society, and more difficult to realize. Webster's New World Dictionary proposes that progress is a movement onward "toward perfection or a higher state." It is here that a progressive Vincennes University finds its place.

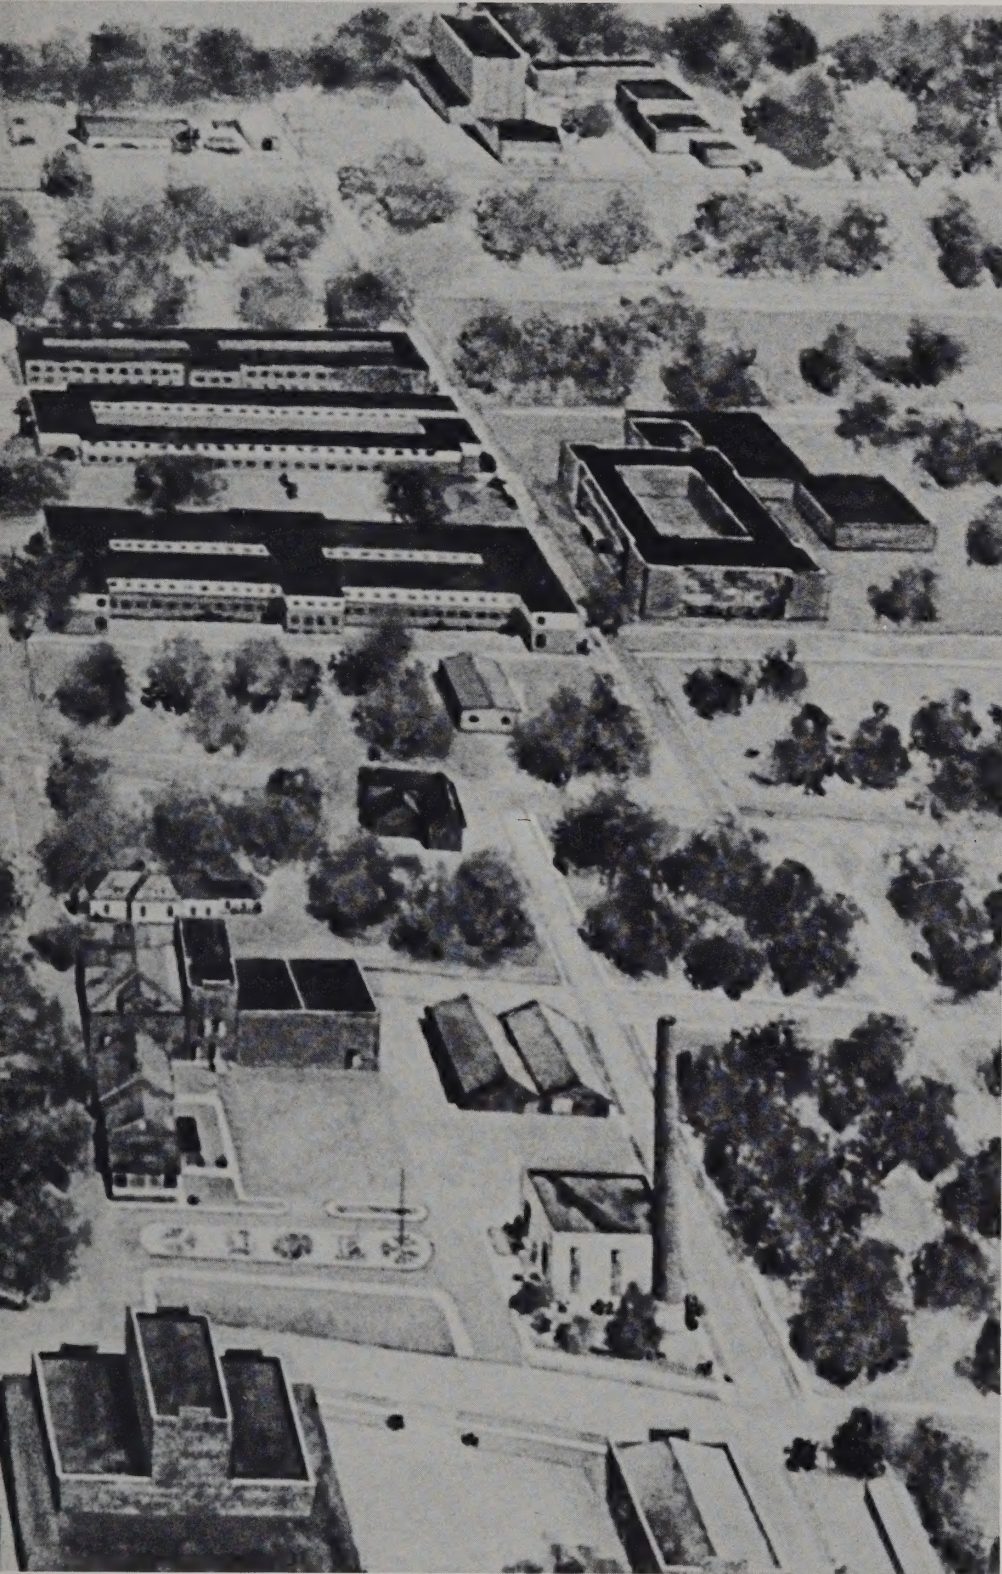

As beams reach to the sky and new structures arise from the useless remains of old, a new and unique kind of progress spreads at V.U. This progress began in 1801 when the infant school first brought education to the midwestern frontier. It continued as V.U. pioneered in junior college education and established the open door policy to students who might otherwise have been left out.

It took determination and spirit to build a campus which extends from O'Neil Airport, east of Vincennes to an extension in Jasper. Concern and an aura of warmth raised the 1960 enrollment of 483 to the 1970 size of 2,900 students representing many parts of the world.

Vincennes University's building plans reach far in the future. Mrs. Vivian Fanton illustrates how Vincennes University will prosper.

IN ENROLLMENT AND IN STRUCTURE

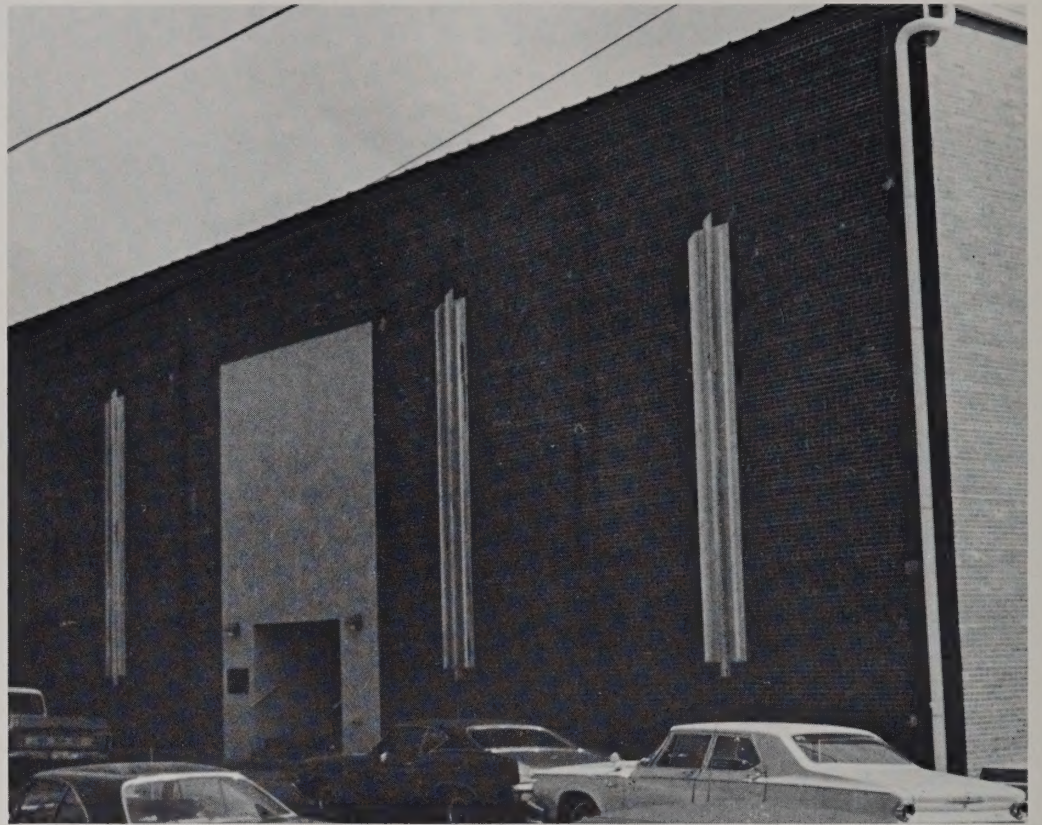

In this same decade, V.U. built three low-cost dormitories and began a fourth; expanded into aviation and mechanics, with the addition of an airport in 1967; renovated a pumping station, a warehouse, and an entire brewery complex into modern, well-equipped facilities; and bought one of the largest computers in the state.

More important than this, V.U. has produced an atmosphere where the student has a second chance for an education. Where he is not lost in a shuffle with thousands of others like him. The University's educational philosophy is designed to motivate a student to do his best and to provide him with sources of help when he falters. V.U. is one of the rare schools where even the president will personally help a student in need.

This is Vincennes University, past and present, a portrait of change. As for the future, how can it fail as long as V.U. holds to its principles? This is progress V.U. style—one step at a time toward its goal—perfection!

TOWN HOUSING

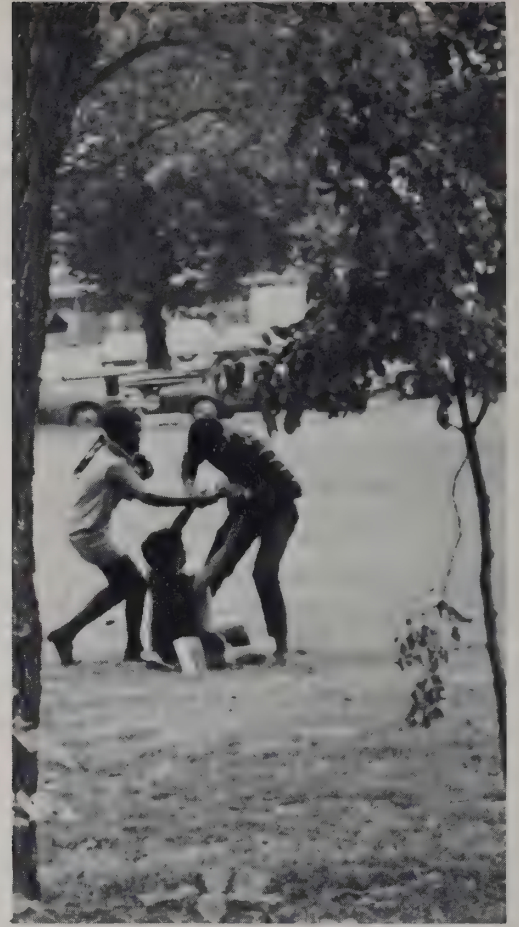

COMMUTORS

Commuters, the local segment of VU's student body makeup approximately 12% of the total enrollment. The 400 students commute from their houses in the greater Vincennes area. These students can frequently be seen studying in their cars or lounging in the union between classes.

The 760 town housing students comprise about 34% of the student body and occupy over 200 houses in the Vincennes area. Although they have many of the same problems as commuters, they have the added problem of being away from home.

FOCUS ON PERSONALITIES

LONG LINES CHARACTERIZE STUDENTS FIRST WEEK

The excitement of registration prepares the students for an adventured packed school year. Trying to get the latest morning classes, paying tuition and buying beanies are just a few of the many activities. No school year can possibly be complete without this first day.

The bookstore is just one of the many places students can be found waiting in line.

"Sorry this class is filled," is often heard during registration.

Helpful information is always welcomed.

FREEDOM FROM BEANIES

The "New Colony Six" plays for the Beanie Burning Dance.

Seniors cheer and the rope strains as freshmen are defeated in the tug-of-war.

DADS WEEKEND FEATURED A VARIETY OF TALENT

The Fall Variety Show was talent, fun, laughter, music and nonsense all mixed together.

Sororities, fraternities, and residence halls put on stunning patriotic or just fun acts, trying to win the judges recognition and first place. Soloists, and clubs added to the entertainment with performances which won the admiration of the crowd. The Senior's "Daddy Told Me." ended the show on a note of hilarity rarely seen in college entertainment.

Sigma Pi's moon skit takes first place.

Charlie Alvy, senior, retells the famous story of the "Moose Goosers."

West Hall won the best singing ability by creating their version of patriotism.

VU's James Shipley adds a flair of folk music to the program.

CHILI SUPER 1969

Members of different organizations are shown stirring the chili that fed hundreds.

The Annual Chili Supper is sponsored each year, since 1953, by the alumni and is attended by hundreds of students, faculty, staff and alumni as well as townspeople. Each campus organization is given an opportunity of having a fund raising booth and the Green Auditorium is turned into a veritable "market-place."

Dr. Beckes stops at one of the booths at the Chili Supper.

GENIEVE AND THE GENERATION GAP

Genieve Grant, played by Miss Amy Loomis, listens to an outburst by Harry Winkler as Rolf.

"Genieve and the Generation Gap" was the fourth campus production written and directed by Robert Cagle. The two act play featured Miss Amy G. Loomis as Genieve, a retired Broadway star who found herself in conflict with the morals and politics of the younger generation. This attempt to examine the generation gap can be considered as another of the stepping stones in Robert Cagle's bid for a successful production.

Troy Demetrius, played by Tom Jones, argues with Rolf as Mike Messmer and Betty Dunstan look on.

Sigma Pi Fraternity welcomes brothers from another chapter.

GREEK WEEKEND 1969

The purpose of Greek Weekend was to promote a better understanding between the fraternities and sororities so that there could be more cooperation. On Friday night, the groups decorated the Green Auditorium by designing collages which were used for the President's Ball.

As a result of Greek Weekend, the fraternities and sororities gained an insight on the typical problems that each one faces.

Each sorority and fraternity on the campus decorated for the President's Ball by making collages.

Gene Cotton entertained all of the Greeks.

The crowd gathers as the performance begins.

As exam time approaches, gathering facts at the library is an important facet in preparation.

FOLK WEEKEND 1970

Folk Weekend was among the weekends planned to keep the students on campus and to bring to the campus well known groups and entertainers.

John Denver, with his talent as both a singer and songwriter, plus his rapport and ability to communicate with the college audience, enabled the students to rank him as a campus favorite.

The Freshmen Class presented the "First Edition" in a pop concert on Sunday night. This group was viewed by students, faculty, and townspeople and proved to be a tremendous success.

Folk Weekend was very well attended and hopefully will be considered for next year's calendar.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Dominating the International flavor that students from other countries bring to Vincennes University was the enrollment of six royalty from the country of Swaziland in South Africa.

Vincennes University feels very privileged to have the royalty, who range from age twenty-one to twenty-six, on the campus because each and everyone has potential to succeed.

All plan to transfer to other American universities after being graduated from VU, and then return to their country.

SPRING

Switching mounts is one of the more difficult phases of the bike race.

Racing bikes, riding tricycles, walking on stilts, and eating pies are a few of the many activities that students participate in during V.U.'s Little 500 Weekend.

The competitive spirit is keen and the determination to win is great. Each activity of the weekend can create enthusiasm that lasts the rest of the year.

Sigma Pi took the honors of the "Big Bike" race, while Alpha Theta Chi won the tricycle race. Lois Seaton, freshman, is the new stilt walking champion. The fastest pie eater was Pat Booten.

The "Little 500" proved to be one of the most eventful weekends of the year.

The Trailblazer, eight (sometimes 12) tabloid pages of it, is produced by students in the Journalism Program.

Reporting and its related rigors have not gone unrewarded. The Trailblazer's Spring Semester, 1969, issues earned the paper its seventh Associated Collegiate Press All-American Rating in the last eight semesters. THE TRAILBLAZER

Frank McGrath, photographer, is seen at all of the campus happenings.

In early Spring Semester, 1970, the Journalism Program occupied Elihu Stout Hall, a beautifully refurnished structure which once was a barrelstorage building of a onetime Vincennes brewery.

More than by new paneled walls and new plaques to hang on them, however, The Trailblazer finds its "groove" by what it perceives as its enduring mission—to encourage, week in and week out, lively communication throughout the campus community.

Paul Ingram, freshman, writes feature articles for The Trailblazer.

PERSONALITIES

DR. ISAAC K. BECKES

Under the direction of Doctor Isaac K. Beckes, Vincennes University has grown these past 20 years. His professional guidance and philosophy of education has made V.U. one of the leading colleges in the state academically, and one of the leading junior colleges in the nation athletically.

Since the president is rarely seen at most colleges, it is refreshing to note that Dr. Beckes can be seen frequently on campus and at most of the convocations. His "open door policy" and willingness to help the students at V.U. makes him an honorable man.

Dr. Beckes, a Yale graduate, has been president since June, 1950.

Dr. Beckes is never too busy to take time to walk with and talk to students.

TRAGIC HAPPENINGS INVOLVE STUDENTS

West Hall fire put forty students out of rooms.

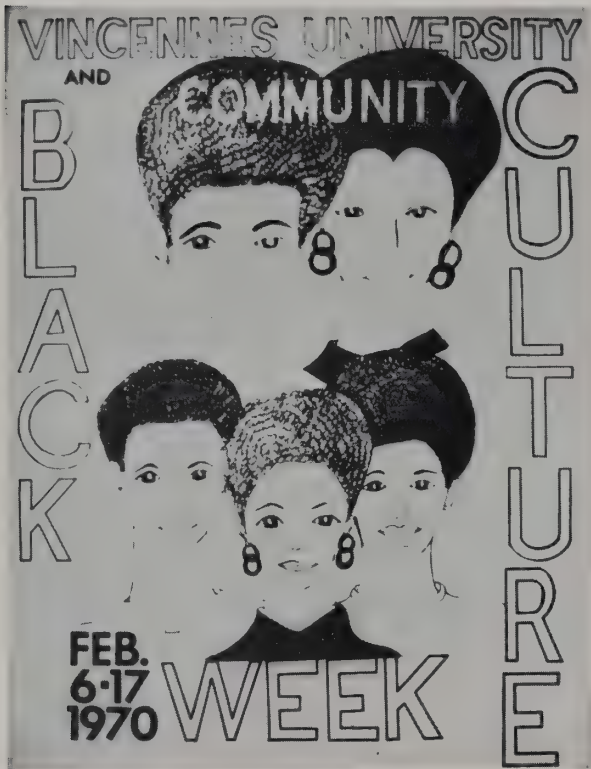

Four VU students discuss the lottery system.

On December 1, 1969, the lottery made marked men out of some VU students. Not only the male section of the campus was affected, but many girls were upset by this occurrence. Ten days later, flames broke out in West Hall turning at least 40 students from the dorm. A fire in Womens' Residence Hall added more confusion and dismay to an already upsetting scene.

These two occurrences highlighted the tragic events which filled the year.

BLACK CULTURE WEEK 1970

February 6-17 was designated as Black Culture Week here at Vincennes University. The black congregation on campus set up a program which was designed to present black culture to the university and the surrounding community. The purpose of this presentation was to help people of different races appreciate more fully the black heritage and customs.

A WORD FROM THE EDITOR

The Le Revoir has become such a natural part of my daily routine that now it is a strange feeling to be writing this copy for the last time. It will indeed be a relief knowing that there will be no more deadlines to meet, but on the other hand the fact that I am finished brings about a bit of sadness.

Special thanks goes to Mrs. Marie McQuaid and Mr. Jim Miller for their advisorship and encouragement. Mr. Gilbert Kramer of Kramac Printing also receives my recognition for the fine work and advice he has given me.

This book is the product of many hours of generously volunteered work by the Staff. No words could begin to express my thanks to my Assistant and Managing Editors, Doug Gerdon and Tim Bartz. Without their devotion and time, this volume of the Le Revoir would not exist. My "right hand man," Bill Taylor, Photographer, is to be congratulated for his fine work, talent, and cooperation in helping us produce this yearbook. Without him, I know I could never have lasted.

We had some difficult times making this yearbook what it is and we wondered if it was all worth it, but now that it is finished we know that every minute was well worth the effort.

May I take this time now to thank all the students, faculty, and staff for the wonderful cooperation you have shown the Le Revoir Staff of 1970. The pleasure I have derived from working with you will never be forgotten.

Jayne Senesac, Senior and Editor-in-Chief of the 1970 Le Revoir.
